Education:

Kathleen Henry received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Wesleyan University in 1983. She received a Masters Degree in Educational Policy Studies from the University of Wisconsin-Madison in 1986, and her J.D. degree from Washington University in 1989. While at Washington University, she was a research assistant for Professor Daniel R. Mandelker and she co-founded the Public Interest Law Society and the Environmental Law Society.

Courts Admitted to:

Missouri, Illinois, and District of Columbia Bars; U.S. District Court, Eastern District of Missouri, U.S. Supreme Court, U.S. District Court, District of Columbia; Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals; Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Legal Experience:

From 1989-1992 she worked for the Missouri Public Defender, Appellate Division, handling indigent criminals' appeals and postconviction motions. From 1993-1998, she worked at Green, Hennings & Henry LLP, participating in general litigation for the firm, focusing mainly on environmental law. She participated in many of the environmental cases litigated by Mr. Green and Mr. Morrison during that period.

In 1999 and 2000, Ms. Henry worked for Swankin and Turner in Washington, D.C., on a variety of matters including nonprofit and consumer law. In addition, she worked for the Law Offices of John L. Laster in Falls Church, Virginia, doing trusts and estate work.

In 2000 Ms. Henry returned to Green, Hennings and Henry LLP, where she handled environmental matters, and assisted her father, Lewis Green, in incorporating the Great Rivers Environmental Law Center. Following the death of her father in 2003, Ms. Henry became the President of Great Rivers Environmental Law Center.

Since the inception of Great Rivers in 2002, Ms. Henry has represented several environmental organizations. She assisted Mr. Green and Mr. Morrison in their representation of the Missouri Coalition for the Environment in its suit against the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers over the permits issued allowing a mall development in the floodplains of the Missouri River. She represented Earth Share in its suit against the University of Missouri pursuant to the Missouri Sunshine Law. Ms. Henry represented the Missouri Coalition for the Environment and individual plaintiffs in their suit against the Missouri Department of Natural Resources over the issuance of permits to the United States Army to allow fog oil emissions training at Fort Leonard Wood. For the Sierra Club of Western Kentucky, she assisted in its suit against the Kentucky Division of Air Quality over the permits granted to Peabody Coal Company to build the Thoroughbred Generating Station. She has represented Heartwood, Inc., in two lawsuits brought against the U.S. Forest Service over the sale of national forest lands to timber companies. In addition, she assisted U. City in Bloom with its application to the IRS to qualify as a 501(c)(3) organization.

In 2005, Ms. Henry represented the Sierra Club in its suit against the Missouri Department of Natural Resources over the permit it issued to the City Utilities of Springfield to construct a new coal-fired power plant in Springfield, Missouri. In addition, she represented the Sierra Club and Concerned Citizens for Platte County in the administrative hearing before the Missouri Public Service Commission over the Stipulation and Agreement presented to the Commission by the Kansas City Power and Light Company. The Stipulation calls for the construction of a new coal-fired power plant in Platte County, Missouri.
